Introduction

Objectives of the Learning Community:

- Support Planning Professionals (SPP) are prepared to apply Person Centered practices
- SPP are prepared to apply Transition Protocols to their work

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
Introduction

Objectives of the Learning Community:

- Identify where there may be service or access issues that are getting in the way of “living” Person Centered Principles and Practices

- Provide an ongoing forum for support planning issues; initial focus is on person-centered planning

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
Updates

• Transition Protocols

• Implementation with ICF/DD & under age 65 in NF>90 days

• Tools
  ○ Accessibility
  ○ Available online
  ○ Action Plan

  - Over 65
    - Intent and Practice
    - Not included in Agency Action Plan
    - Tools are not required
    - Will not be audited for Transitions

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
A series of bulletins will be issued on the topic of person-centered and person-centered planning
First bulletin

- Recognizing the person-centered planning people have been doing

- Stressing that being person-centered is broader than person-centered planning and includes every interaction you have with the person

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
Future bulletins will provide:

- Required elements of person-centered practices
- Specifics of how we expect lead agencies to meet the requirements

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
DHS is developing other resources for:

- People receiving services
- Families
- Providers
- Advocates
- Lead Agencies
Taking ‘person-centered’ to the next level

• Building on a strong foundation
• Putting guidance behind our person-centered intentions

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
How does a person-centered system differ from what we already have?

- Current system is well-developed to ensure health and safety (what is important “for” the person)

- Person-centered practices shift the focus to quality of life (what is important “to” the person), while still addressing health and safety

For example,

- What does the person value?
- What goals and dreams does the person have?
- What are the things that contribute to having a quality life?
Person-Centered Practice Cycle

Triggers are laid out in the protocol:
- Routine (e.g., annual reviews)
- Per follow-up portion of the plan
- Day/week of a move
- 45 days after a move

Issues in Creating a Person-Centered System

Need to change at the organizational level, as well as at the person level

- Values
- Expectations
- Measurement
- Time and resource allocation
- Skill building

Seven Person-Centered Myths

1. “We’re already doing it”
2. Person-centered planning means asking the person, “What do you want?”
3. Person-Centerededness means a person getting everything they want
4. A good plan means a good life
Seven Person-Centered Myths

5. Person-Centeredness applies to only one type of disability

6. Person-Centeredness only applies to those working with people who receive services

7. Person-centered planning is a planning process that can be done separate from more significant organizational change
“Person-Centered Professional Practices: Professional efforts that share power with individuals and recognize each person as a whole individual with unique strengths, assets, interests, expectations, cultures, and goals. Person-centered practices are structured in ways to support individuals’ comfort, responsibility, and their ability to express choice, control, and direction in all aspects of services and supports.” (Dept. Human Services Lead Agency Review)
Additionally....

- Identifying what’s important to a person (goals, preferences, expectations, relationships, etc.); how they would like to address what is important for them (health, safety and resources issues—such as housing or sobriety, that they cannot manage without assistance), and how they can best be supported in achieving their goals by others.
Critical Boundary
It’s NOT the setting

A community LIFE and a HOME

is more than a “community residence”
We want a system where -

The people who use the service (with the support of their families)

• Tell us how they want to live

• Make use of public resources to have the life they want (or as close as we can determine)

• Get the support they need to make the first two happen

Questions: Use Q&A Panel and send to "All Panelists"
We want a system where -

The people who provide the service

- Are empowered to make a difference
- Use public resources wisely
- Get the support they need to make the first two happen!
We want a system where -

- Everyone feels heard
- Change is possible for people and for the systems that serve them
